STOCK EXCHANGE TO CLOSE ON DAY LINDBERGH ARRIVES

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 9.—THE Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange voted to close the exchange all day Monday in observance of the New York welcome to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The resolution, as adopted by the board, said: "Whereas, in connection with the arrival of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in this city on Monday next, the movement of troops incident to the arrival and the tremendous number of visitors which will be assembled in the financial district to greet him, the transferring and delivery of properties will be surrounded with considerable difficulty and risk, be it resolved that the New York Stock Exchange remain closed on Monday, June 13."

The New York Curb Market also voted to close all day Monday.

The New York Cotton Exchange announced that it would close at noon Monday.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—President Coolidge has approved a recommendation of the Secretary of War to appoint Charles A. Lindbergh a Colonel in the Army Air Corps Reserve. The commission will be presented to Lindbergh by Secretary of War Davis himself at the ceremony in Lindbergh's honor in St. Louis.

LUXURY COMBINED WITH SPEED IN OIL MAN'S AIRPLANE

Texan's Machine Has Cabin, Kitchen and Washroom; Goes 145 Miles an Hour.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Speed and luxury will be achieved in the large Fokker monoplane which the Atlantic Aircraft Corporation of Teterboro, N. J., announces is being built for William H. Dunning, oil man of Fort Worth, Tex.

The plane will be an upholstered cabin for four passengers in addition to the cockpit for the pilot. In the lower part of the fuselage is to be a baggage compartment with an outside door. Above it is to be another compartment available from the cabin, equipped with a veranda, a washroom, an icebox, a gas stove and complete washing facilities. The plane has a special 450-horsepower motor which will give it a speed of 145 miles an hour.

The aircraft corporation expects to have the plane ready for Dunning when he returns from Europe in a few weeks.

FRENCH RENEW PLANS FOR PARIS-NEW YORK FLIGHT

With Lindbergh on Way Home and Chamberlain Excitement Over, They Become Active.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 9.—Now that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is on his return from the first excitement over the New York-Berlin flight has subsided, French aviators are making preparations for their own attempts to fly from Paris to New York.

M. Drouhin, long-distance flyer, today began tests of his big two-motored plane, which will carry a navigator and radio operator.

Prior to a Paris-to-New York flight

he hopes to recapture the continuous flight time record which he lost recently to Clarence D. Chamberlin, who remained in the air much longer in the same plane with which he made his New York-to-Germany hop.

CLOTHIERS MAKE CEREMONIAL CALL

But Its Purpose Was to Get Orders For Suits Rooms of Airmen
Stacked With Beer.

By ARTHUR E. MANN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World,
Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishers and Post-Dispatch.)

BERLIN, June 9.—Clarence D.
Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine gave a reception to the American Embassy yesterday, and an official surprised the correspondents by announcing that they had signed a contract with an American newspaper for an exclusive signed story of their flight. This official then privately and individually requested several American correspondents not to ask the flyers any questions that might embarrass them in fulfilling their contracts.

This has caused several Berlin newspapers to criticize bitterly "the American censorship."

Chamberlin yesterday afternoon sped out to Tempelhofer Field, where Tuesday night an enormous crowd saw him and Levine alight on the last of their three hops from New York. He found his airplane safely housed in a hangar.
He found it in excellent shape except for the compass which will be repaired.

It was understood that he will have the big piano-shaped gasoline tank removed and replaced by a smaller container which will allow several persons to ride in the machine during the rest of its flights over Europe. As the plane is at present, there is room for two to sit in the control box. Closely in the back is the tank placed as an upright piano lengthwise in the fuselage, which corresponds to the board in the part of the tank on which one man can sleep.

After Chamberlin returned to the American Embassy from inspecting the Bellanca machine he and Levine went to a reception given by Chancellor Marx and Frau Marx.
Foreign Minister Stresemann was there.

Message From Capt. Koenig.

The first man to link Germany and the United States by transoceanic flights is the oceanic aviation. He is Capt. Koenig, commander of the submarine Deutschland, who in 1916 took his craft to America on two trips with commercial goods. His evasion of the allied naval blockade was hailed deliriously in Germany.

"My sincerest felicitations for the successful flight from America to Germany," he wired. "I am deeply gratified that the German people gave the intrepid flyers the same enthusiastic reception which the American nation intended and afterwards gave the flyers under the ocean.

While Chamberlin was in fine fettle after a night of good sleep, Levine was suffering a reaction from the strain of the flight. He ate only a little breakfast and lunched lightly in the room upstairs in the embassy instead of joining the official family in the dining room. A physician prescribed some medicine and a simple diet for a day or two.

The flyers occupy separate rooms, but there is a likeness between them in that each is stacked with beer cases and small kegs of beer. The Czechoslovakian Minister started something yesterday afternoon when he sent a case of Pilsener beer to the embassy to be placed on ice for the flyers.
The amount of fluid in the rooms bear witness that almost every brewery in Berlin followed suit.
Incidentally, beer is the only liquor the flyers have drunk since they arrived here.

A Ceremonial Business Call.

Wearing top hats and their nattiest clothes the proprietor, head salesman and interpreter of one

37-STATION RADIO HOOKUP TO GIVE 11-HOUR STORY OF LINDBERGH DAY AT CAPITAL

Commander Byrd to Meet Flyer at Dock—
Army, Marine and Navy Planes to Escort Cruiser Up Potomac.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 9.—America's huge radio machinery in a continuous 11-hour program next Saturday will be devoted to broadcasting the fame of Col. Charles A.
Lindbergh.

For the first time in history, 37 stations throughout the United States, associated with the National Broadcasting Co., which announced the plan today, will be used solely for such a time for one event. The plan will transmit the address and the description of the national capital's welcome to the aviator to a radio audience of millions.

The program will start at 12 noon, Eastern time (11 a. m. St.
Louis time) and close at 11 p. m.

Three outstanding features will be broadcast in the radio tribute to the pilot—his welcome and decoration with the Distinguished Flying Cross by President Coolidge at the Washington Monument, and his addresses at the receptions of the National Press Club and the Minnesota State Society.

Among the stations on the chain will be KSD, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Order From Flag Order.

Another decoration has been added to the long list of honors to be heaped upon the aviator on his return here from Europe with the award of the Cross of Honor of the United States Flag Association.

Former Secretary of State Hughes, senior founder of the association, will present the cross to Lindbergh who is expected to attend the association's vesper flag services at the Capital Sunday evening.

The association's citation in the award said it was "in recognition of his conspicuous service to the flying through his marvelous achievement which has emphasized so strongly in the eyes of the entire world the hopes, aspirations and destiny of the American people as symbolized by the flag of the United States."

Enough mail to perturb a truck driver has flooded the embassy.
One of the secretaries started in seriously at opening it and placing in some order, but the task was too great for one person to attempt. Most of the communications are still unopened. Chamtime going through the mass trying to pick out messages from those they knew in the United States, but it was like trying to find a needle in a haystack.

The "Pride of San Diego," Ryan monoplane built at the same time as the now famous "Spirit of St. Louis," landed at Lambert Field this afternoon en route to Washington for the welcome reception of Col. Lindbergh. It was arrived here two hours.

The plane, built along the lines as the transatlantic plane, owned and piloted by Frank Hawks, a former army flyer. With Hawks on the trip are his wife and D. W. Campbell, official representative of the city of San Diego at the Washington celebration.

The party left San Diego on Monday morning, stopping Tucson, Ariz., San Antonio, Houston and Dallas, Tex., and Muskogee, Okla., en route to St. Louis. The plane took off at Lambert Field at 2:20 o'clock. It took off for Dayton, O. Tomorrow Hawks plans to fly to Washington and later to New York.

Blast Destroys Three Residences and Damages Others on Highway Near Butler, Pa.

By the Associated Press.

NEWARK, Pa., June 9.—Alvin (Shipwreck) Kelly, steeplejack, passed his fiftieth hour at the top of a flagpole on a local hotel at noon today. He climbed to his perch Tuesday morning and announced he was going to remain to drink.

A huge demonstration against Poland, growing out of the assassination of the Soviet Minister to Warsaw, started yesterday afternoon in the streets leading to the Polish Embassy, the demonstrators marching in increasing numbers until late at night. They shouted and halted traffic. The Polish embassy was heavily guarded by special Russian troops.

50 Hours Atop Flagpole.

NEWARK, Pa., June 9.—Alvin (Shipwreck) Kelly, steeplejack, passed his fiftieth hour at the top of a flagpole on a local hotel at noon today. He climbed to his perch Tuesday morning and announced he was going to remain to drink.

The dead: Frank K. Greer, driver of the truck, and Victor Coxan, his helper, both of Oil City.

The explosion destroyed three houses and damaged several others in the village of Lick Hill. Mrs. Edward Redieg and her daughter Margaret, among the six most seriously injured in a hospital here, are recovering.

The explosion occurred when a rear wheel of the truck slipped from the concrete highway into a small ditch as the machine was turning into a mud road.

Explosion Felt for Five Miles.

The truck, loaded with explosives, had just turned from the main highway to a side road, en route to a magazine storage shed, when the blast occurred. The nitro was to have been used in blowing oil wells. The force of the blast was felt five miles away.

The Butler chapter of the American Red Cross sent workers to the scene. State highway patrolmen and State troopers took charge of the situation.

Many telephone poles, carrying telegraph, telephone and electric wire, were ripped down, and gas lines were broken. Some of the damage houses caught fire.

Lick Hill is a sparsely settled farming community. Oil well workers from the nearby region make their home in that town.

The bombing of a hall in which the Leningrad Communist Discussion Club was meeting Tuesday night was followed yesterday by the blowing up of a trolley car in which a lieutenant of the Polish Intelligence Service, suspected of espionage, was being taken to Moscow from the Polish frontier.

Mr. Chief Opanayev, of the state political police, and two of his assistants were killed by the explosion of a bomb which had been placed on the track while the prisoner was seriously injured.

In the bombing of the Communist Club 26 persons, among them 10 young women, were injured. The bomb throwers escaped.

34 Arrests in Inquiry Into Warsaw Assassination

By the Associated Press.

WARSAW, June 9.—Polish police are taking drastic steps to determine whether the assassination of Peter Volkoff, Soviet envoy at Warsaw, was part of a Russian monarchist plot. Volkoff's assassin was a young Russian student studying at Vilna.

Police searched the monarchist colonies in both Warsaw and Vilna, making five arrests at the capital and 29 at Vilna.

The Russian newspaper Vilna Novaya, Russia, which issued a special edition recommending subscriptions for the murderer, was suppressed and the editor arrested.

The Polish Government is doing everything possible, it is announced, to fulfill the requirements of justice, and has acceded to the Soviet demand for participation in the investigation, the Polish law permits.

Russia's sharp note has made a painful impression in Polish governmental circles, which deplore the tragedy and regard it as an internal Russian affair, which accidentally happened in Polish territory, and for which Poland has no moral responsibility. It is believed that the Soviet Union will be satisfied with nothing less than the death penalty for the assassin, but it is not expected that the tragedy will seriously impair relations between the two countries.

The body of M. Volkoff was exposed to public view yesterday at the Soviet legation. Among those who called at the legation were the Polish foreign minister, M. Zaleski and members of the diplomatic corps, together with the representatives of numerous social and economic institutions. Tomorrow the body will be taken on a special train to Moscow.

Among those arrested in connection with the murder are several well known Russian monarchists, including M. Kleinlich, director of the telegraphic agency, "Rue Press," a representative of Grand Duke Nicholas, president to the Russian throne, Gen. Maklowski, and M. Gorlow, president of the Russian Welfare Society.

M. Litvinoff, acting Soviet foreign minister, sent a note of thanks today to Zaleski, Polish Foreign Minister, for the Polish Government's expressions of sympathy over the death of Volkoff.

Thousands of persons visited the Soviet legation yesterday to view the body of M. Volkoff as it lay

PRESIDENT PUTS OFF DECISION ON SPECIAL SESSION

Right Now He Thinks He Will Call Congress in Fall, but Reserves Right to Change His Mind.

WILL ACT UNLESS LEADERS OBJECT

Extra Time Would Clear Political Air of Many Controversies Prior to National Convention.

By DAVID LAWRENCE, A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Both President Coolidge and Senator Smoot in their statements are reflecting accurately the situation with reference to an extra session of Congress. The denial issued at the White House that the President had closed his mind on the subject does not mean that the prediction made by Smoot—that there would be an early autumn session—will prove unfounded. The apparent conflict is explainable in light of the stand Mr. Coolidge has always taken with respect to extra sessions. He has felt that until the day he actually summoned such a session he must be free to act otherwise.

All that Mr. Coolidge has indicated thus far is that when the fall of the year arrives he will follow such a course. He finds Smoot in hearty accord with the idea, much in order to handle emergency legislation as to get the next Congress started at least a month or two in advance of December so that the Republican party will not find itself in a legislative jam when the next national convention is about to be held.

Mr. Coolidge has been brought to call an extra session to tackle the Mississippi flood problem, but he thinks that until the reports of the engineers are available and concrete plans can be made there would be no gain in time by calling Congress now.

As for the autumn of the year, it is apparent that the next Congress is going to be involved in a number of controversies which will take considerable time. Political pressure will be at its height because the presidential campaign is so near. The investigating fever is in the air and the longer the session would be called, the more time would be given to the investigators to stir up their pet subjects. Advantages outweigh the disadvantages as Mr. Coolidge sees it, especially if the taxpayers are to know before next March 15 just what their tax burdens are to be.

Mr. Coolidge reserves the right to change his mind about an extra session between now and next September, but indications are that he will keep the matter open until fall and make his formal announcement at that time.

FARMER-PHYSICIAN FREED OF PEONAGE CHARGE BY JURY

Dr. W. R. King Was Tried for Holding Negro in State of Bondage Georgia Plantation

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, June 9.—Dr. W. R. King, a former Oglethorpe County plantation owner and physician, was acquitted by a jury in federal court here last night of a charge of peonage.

The jury of farmers and business men deliberated about an hour and a half, but said, after being dismissed, that only one ballot was necessary to reach the verdict, the time being spent in discussion of the case before polling.

The physician specifically was charged with having held a Negro, Dan Dorsey, in a state of bondage. The indictment was returned last December, after the Department of Justice officials had made an investigation on his farm.

The physician took the stand in his own defense yesterday. For more than two hours he was questioned by attorneys and while denying that conditions of peonage existed on his farm or that laborers working for him were mistreated, he admitted that on four occasions he had whipped Negroes, among them Dorsey.

RULES MUSEUM TAX IS A SPECIAL LEVY

Associate City Counselor, in Opinion, Says Money Must Go to Project.

The city administration must set apart the special 2-cent tax voted by the people for the Art Museum, according to a legal opinion which Associate City Counselor Dolan will render to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment tomorrow. The opinion does not apply to the 4-cent levy on the $100 valuation for the Public Library, and the 2-cent levy for the Zoo, which the administration has decided must go into general municipal revenue.

Dolan's opinion is based on his study of a State Supreme Court decision of 1912. The court, in a decision written by Judge Van Slyck, granted a writ of mandamus against the Mayor and city officials, directing them to levy the special tax for the Art Museum. This was a continuing writ, so is mandatory on the city until the court shall change it.

The suit which resulted in the Supreme Court's decree was instituted by W. W. Bixby. It did not relate to the Public Library and the Zoo, and the decree does not cover them.

If the city administration continues to withhold the special tax levy from the Library and Zoo, it is expected that the governing boards of those institutions will institute suits. The city will resist these suits, on the ground that the tax rate limit has been reached, and that the special levies, amounting to 8 cents for the Library, Art Museum and Zoo, are too large, as compared with the sums available for other city departments.

Dolan said that, if the city should be upheld in its resistance of the Library and Zoo levies, it will then ask the Supreme Court to vacate the decree of 1912 as to the Art Museum.

Bite yourself an Alphabet

Isn't it better to be a Pretzeleer?

"Mama, see the funny man. What's he in there for?"

"Why Willie, he is a cu-ri-os-i-ty."

"Mama, what's a cu-ri-os-i-ty?"

"A cu-ri-os-i-ty, Willie, is a person who doesn't like pretzels."

And breaking out a paper bag of O-So-Guds mama began to bite and Willie to nibble and soon they had spelled for the man.

O-SO-GUD

That's an eating word if there ever was one, for it's the name of those crispy, crunchy, salty, twisty Uneeda Bakers' pretzels that everyone but a cu-ri-os-i-ty likes so well.

They're good with cool iced drinks. With soup, with salad, with dessert. They're good on picnics and between meals and at parties. They're good for children. Easy to digest.

Uneeda Bakers bake them. Grocers in every neighborhood sell them.

O-SO-GUD REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. PRETZELS

O-So-Guds are brown, crisp and salty. They bite with a nice crunch and they have a taste that's like nothing in the world but an O-So-Gud pretzel. Sold by the pound.

USE OF WHISKY AS MEDICINE UPHELD BY INDIANA OFFICIAL

Bona Fide Prescriptions Only "Literal Violation" and Not Criminal, He Says
By the Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 9.—
Bona fide prescriptions in Indiana for medicinal purposes on advice of licensed physicians "never" has been considered a violation of anything save the literal terms of the statutes, and "such literal terms never have been permitted by our Supreme Court to govern the law in such cases," Attorney-General Gilliom said today.

The statements were in a letter to Indiana prosecuting attorneys. "Concerning the enforcement of the prohibition statute in instances where it is held liquor used for medicinal purposes," he said, "the statute is to be enforced as heretofore. Then followed an interpretation that bona fide use of whisky for such purposes heretofore had been considered only a literal violation of the statute.

Gilliom cited a Supreme Court decision which said "that although a prohibitory statute failed to make exceptions for medicinal and sacramental liquors, the court would make the exceptions in proper cases."

SAPIRO SUED FOR $900,000

ON RAIL MERGER CONTRACT

Breach of Agreement in Great Western and Wabash Deal Alleged by Chicago Banker.

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, June 9.—Aaron Sapiro, co-operation marketing attorney, who has a $1,000,000 libel suit pending against Henry Ford, has been made a defendant in a $900,000 breach of contract suit together with F. J. Lissman, New York investment banker. The suit was filed by Andrew Stevenson, banker and railway organizer of Chicago, and James Howard Clemmons, La., president of the American Economic Institute and former president of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation.

The complainants charge Sapiro and Lissman failed to live up to an agreement, made in 1925, to carry out the Stevenson plan of consolidating the Chicago, Great Western, Minneapolis and St. Louis, Rock Island, Peoria and Western and Ann Arbor Railroads.

In carrying out his end of the agreement, Stevenson says he bought a large part of the common stock of the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis Railroad and its Havana and Jacksonville branch.

GEORGE H. HALL, 82-YEAR-OLD COMMISSION MAN, SUCCUMBS

President of Nanson Firm Had Been With Company Since it Was Founded.

George H. Hall, president of the Nanson Commission Co., died today at his home, 5418 Cabanne, of kidney trouble. Member of the Merchants' Exchange, of which he was a member, stood one minute at noon today in silent prayer for him. Mr. Hall, who was 82 years old, had been associated with the commission company since it was founded and had been its president about 20 years.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday morning from St. Rose's Church, Maple and Goodfellow avenue, to Calvary Cemetery.

Surviving are his widow, three sons, George H. Jr., Louis T. and Edward P., and a daughter, Sister Vincentine, a member of the faculty of Visitation Academy.

THREE VERDICTS ANNULLED BY JUROR'S PRISON RECORD

Served Term for Bootlegging; Cases in East St. Louis Court to Retried.

Disclosure today that a juror had served a prison term for bootlegging requires retrial in East St. Louis City Court of three civil cases wherein that juror sat. He is John Hershfield of East St. Louis, who was in Danville in 1925 to a year and a day in Leavenworth penitentiary.

The jury filed into City Judge Crook's court this morning and reported a $5000 verdict for James F. Moore of Collinsville, in a suit against the East St. Louis and Suburban Street Car Co. Dan McGlynn Sr., the company's attorney, questioned Hershfield, who admitted his citizenship had not been restored.

The Adventure Called Life

The fiction writer would have to believe this is life—a colorless, humdrum affair. So he attempts to improve on reality by creating characters and situations out of his fanciful mind.

But it is the adventure of life itself that claims our deepest interest. We are fascinated by what our neighbors are thinking and doing. Their hopes, fears, joys, sorrows, temptations and struggles are like ours, and are therefore of immediate and vital concern.

That is why the personal narratives of human experience which appear in True Story Magazine have such a widespread and ever-growing appeal. For example, there are 16 thrilling features in the July issue. Your newscaster has it. Get your copy today!

DOWNTOWN PARKING OF AUTOS ASSAILED

Delays Transportation of 75
Pct. of People in Street Cars, Electric Chief Says.

Downtown parking in American cities is "ridiculously delaying" the transportation of 75 per cent of the people in street cars and busses and "must go," it was declared today in a paper by Lucius B. Storrs, managing director of the American Electric Railway Association, read at the opening of the annual meeting of the Midwest Electric Railway Association in Hotel Chase today. The meeting will continue through Saturday.

A prediction that the street railway would "come into its own again" was made by Storrs. He gave a list of names of men nationally known as financiers, and declared they were investing their own money and that of millions of stockholders, confident that street railways were not a "dead or dying industry."

The rate of fare, once the chief controversy in almost every city, no longer dominates, Storrs said. Instead, public officials are putting good service first.

The bus problem is a grave one and not yet solved, Storrs thought. It has been demonstrated the bus will not supplant the electric car. The bus is a place for it in new territories until traffic there is so dense as to justify the building of electric lines. Busses should not be permitted to engage in wasteful competition with street cars, but might profitably be conducted with them, Storrs said.

John W. Colton of New York, editor of the official publication of the association, devoted his talk to an analysis of the operation of municipal street car lines. He declared the public had failed at the task because it is highly technical. The visitors were welcomed in an address by Col. A. L. Pendkins of the United States.

MANHARAJA OF 'MR. A' CASE WANTS TO VISIT AMERICA
Ruler Who Figured in London Blackmail Trial Photographed
By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 9.—The Maharanja of Kashmir, whose fame as one of the East's most resplendent rulers, became world wide as a result of his figuring as the notorious "Mr. A." in a London blackmail case, has signified a desire to visit the United States.

Franklin Price Knott of the National Geographic Society today revealed the Monarch's wish in reporting on a visit to the Royal Eastern Court for the purpose of taking a color photograph of the Maharanja for the society. The Maharanja appeared for the pictures. Knott said, with an emoji, two and one-half inches across blazing in all its natural brilliance on his chest. Knott added:

"He summoned me to the green and blue tiled pool in the royal palace at Jammu, where he was bathing, with a dozen natives diving and splashing. After the swimming servants brought him tray after tray of exquisite jewelry—pins, necklaces, rings and bracelets. From some trays he would select a piece and wave the rest away. When I finally photographed him with his aids, he was wearing. I was told, $4,000,000 worth of pearls."

SECOND FLOOD DEPOPULATES REGION ABOUT DORENA, MO.

Fifty 50 Per Cent of Those Who Moved Back After April Flood Have Departed Again.

Special to the Post-Dispatch
HICKMAN, Ky., June 9.—While the people of the Dorena, Mo., basin have not had to flee as they did April 14 when the levee broke, practically every house in an area of 15 square miles is flooded. Fully 50 per cent of those that moved back after the first flood have moved out again.

Many of them will not return, going instead to farms west and south of Hickman and taking work anywhere they can get it. At least 75 persons are occupying tents on the Missouri River occupying levee.

Charleston, Mo., authorities have asked the Red Cross office here to aid the Dorena section again.

ARBITER OF TONG WARS DIES

Moy Tong Chew of Chicago Amazons

By the Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 9.—Moy Tong Chew, "the Green Dragon," nationally known arbiter of Chinese tong wars, died.

Moy, also known as Big Long, spent most of his 82 years in Chicago. Chinese merchant and operator of the first bank for his people here. He amassed several fortunes, but large donations to Chinese and American charities diminished his estate. Moy maintained his ancestral home at Canton, and it was there in 1912 that Dr. Sun Yat Sen planned the first Chinese revolution from which grew the Republic. Two of his daughters graduated from the University of Chicago and when to Canton to marry Chinese college professors.

Bellanca Cables Mussolini Thanks
ROME, June 9.—A message of thanks from Giuseppe Bellanca, designer of the trans-Atlantic plane, has been received here from the Italian Ambassador at Washington in response to the fall of Mussolini. Bellanca, who was born in Italy, expressed keen appreciation for the Premier's praise and said nothing could have given him greater pleasure.

State Gains Confirmation of One of Its Charges on Re-opening Anti-Trust Suit Hearings.

LEVY OF 2 PCT. ON SUCCESSFUL BIDS

Surplus in Fund Is Divided at Intervals Among Members of Masters' Association.

Confirmation of one point alleged by the State in its anti-trust suit to oust 19 corporate members of the Master Plumbers' Association of St. Louis from business in Missouri was obtained at the resumption of hearings in the case here yesterday.

This point related to the so-called "kitty" or "dues"—a 2 per cent levy on contracts of members. It was shown that all members winning contracts pay 2 per cent of the contract sum into this fund, and that every member bidding adds 2 per cent to his bid to cover this. Copies of all bids, estimates, are sent to the association office and opened after the contract is awarded. This procedure, the State alleges, is violative of the anti-trust law. The association has about 100 members, including unincorporated concerns.

History of the Case.
Information published nearly two years ago by the Post-Dispatch was the foundation of the suit, filed by Attorney-General Gentry in December, 1925, in the State Supreme Court. Former Supreme Judge James T. Blair was appointed Special Commissioner to hear evidence, and the hearing started in May, 1926, but was interrupted by the illness of a son of the State's representative, and then delayed by legal technicalities.

The hearing, reopened by Judge Blair in the St. Louis Court of Appeals room, was continued today. Assistant Attorney-General David P. Jones, Special Assistant J. D. Furtado and Howard W. Jennings of St. Louis appeared for the State and a group of lawyers for the defendants.

Eugene Blake, secretary of the Master Plumbers' Association, who was examined in the 1926 session, was recalled. He and members who followed him on the stand objected to the term "kitty," and he denied that this fund was due. An surplus in this fund after payment of association expenses, he explained, was divided among those members who had submitted estimates on jobs, whether or not they had got contracts, while the 2 per cent was paid in by contract winners.

Explanation of System.
Among the association committees Blake named are the Supply Committee, which "adjusts differences with jobbers," and the General Estimating Committee, comprising all members, each of whom sends Blake copies of his bids. Blake said that, in effect, he was the Estimating Committee. He makes a bulletin of all bids after contracts are awarded, declaring the purpose of the system was "fairness in estimating to all who have estimates."

The working agreement between the master plumbers and union journeymen has been abandoned since April, 1918, Blake asserted. The State alleges that the association and union have agreed that only union members in good standing shall be employed and that the journeymen will work only for association members. Blake denied that the association had any sort of agreement with any supply house or with the Heating and Piping Contractors' Association.

Lawrence McNamara, a former president of the association, whose company is a defendant, testified payment into the dues fund was spasmodic, because contracts run for varying long periods of time. He explained that after estimating the cost of a job, in preparation for bidding, 2 per cent was added for the fund, but declared that he made his estimates to the best of his ability, without consulting others, and made his bids in competition with other plumbers. He admitted that the building public really pays the dues fund.

Uses Made of "Kitty."
Out of this fund, he said, are paid expenses of the association, including Secretary Blake's salary of about $4000 a year, the cost of sending representatives to conventions and the employment of speakers. Any surplus left is divided among those members who have made bids. He concluded, without regard to the success in getting contracts. He denied that there was any real limitation as to what jobs members could bid on.

Cross-examined by John G. Leahy, attorney for some of the defendants, McNamara said that estimating involves considerable effort and the refund from the dues fund is to reimburse for this. A refund is made every six months when there is a surplus, he added.

Edward Quinn, president of the association since January and proprietor of an unincorporated concern at 3027 North Taylor Avenue, was questioned about the agree-

MAN WHO TRIED TO KILL MUSSOLINI ON TRIAL IN ROME

Young Italian Anarchist Tells Special Tribunal He First Planned Assassination of Premier in 1923.

TWO OTHERS FACING COMPLICITY CHARGES

Twenty-Eight Witnesses Will Testify Against Lucetti, the Confessed Plotter, and His Alleged Aids.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, June 9.—Gino Lucetti, the 27-year-old Italian anarchist, who went on trial today on a charge of attempting to assassinate Premier Mussolini last September, told the special tribunal he had carried out his attempt without accomplices and without confiding in anyone.

The defendant, who buried two bombs at the motor car in which the Premier was riding, resulting in the death of eight persons, said he had intended it as 100 percent to assassinate the Premier, but that he gave up the plan because of inability to prepare it fully.
He told the military court he hoped Fascism would be overthrown by popular revolt between 1928 and 1926, but when this did not develop, he planned his second attempt.

Leandro Sorio, a waiter in the hotel where Lucetti lived, and Stefano Vateroni are codefendants with Lucetti, both of them being accused of complicity.

Lucetti made an additional charge of plotting to provoke a general uprising, causing a tumult and public disorder and being responsible for the wounding of eight persons, including four women, who were struck by fragments of the bombs.

JOHN C. GUINN, CARTHAGE'S WEALTHIEST CITIZEN, DIES

Former "Wheat King" of Jasper County and Ore Land Owner
Was 95.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CARTHAGE, Mo., June 9.—John
C. Guinn, 95 years old, reputed to be Carthage's County's wealthiest citizen, died today at his home in Carthage. He came here in 1865, acquiring vast holdings in the western part of the country and at the time of his death, it is said, he owned more than 15,000 acres. He founded Georgia City, naming it after the State from which he came to Missouri.

For years he was known as the "wheat king" of Jasper County, having thousands of acres in that grain. One of the sources of his wealth was mineral land. He owned virtually all of the zinc and lead ore bearing land north of Webb City from which millions of dollars' worth of ore was taken. These mines, however, in what is known as "sheet ground" were abandoned several years ago when the rich Oklahoma field was developed.

Mr. Guinn started his career as a clerk in an Atlanta store. His wife died many years ago. He is survived by a son, Dr. C. B. Guinn of Carthage, and a daughter, Mrs. Lottie Young of La Grange, Ga.

Potato Price Rises $2 to $3.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 9.—Upturns in potato prices are bordering on the sensational, and despite import duties are attracting unusually large shipments from Canada. The Government Bureau of Agricultural Economics today reported a jump of $2 to $3 a barrel within a week on some potatoes, and added considerable excitement is prevailing in many shipping sections. It is explained that unfavorable weather has suddenly broken the potato season almost to a close in Alabama, Louisiana and South Carolina far earlier than last year.

Race to Father's Bedside Fatal.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, June 9.—Howard
M. Keyes, 41 years old, died unexpectedly yesterday after driving an automobile about 900 miles in 48 hours in an effort to reach the bedside of his father, who is seriously ill here. His death was attributed to physical exhaustion. Keyes, who lives in Wauchula, Fla., two days ago received news of his father's illness and immediately set out for Baltimore. He arrived late Tuesday.
Seven hours after his arrival he was found unconscious, and died shortly afterwards.

ment between the association and the union. In apparent conflict with the statement of Secretary Blake, Quinn asserted this agreement had expired only a little more than a year ago, and the masters now are free to hire whatever workers they choose and the union journeymen are at liberty to work where they want.

Admits Getting Refunds.

The Supply Committee, Quinn said, has considered the matter of getting better prices from jobbers, which would benefit all buyers, not only members. He admitted this group had conferred with a committee of the Central Supply House Association. He declared he had failed to get his full share of contracts, but that he has participated in refunds. Members, he said, had not strictly adhered to requirements that they bid only when specifically invited and as to the employment of journeymen. On cross-examination by Leahy, Quinn said he didn't think the last agreement with the union had contained the clause about employment.

Objections to all the testimony were made by John H. Holliday, attorney for the American Radiator Co. and P. Taylor Bryan, attorney for the N. O. Nelson Manufacturing Co., on the ground no connection of these defendants with the antitrust complaint had been shown.

Judge Blair overruled them. Among other counsel appearing for defendants were Charles A. Houts and Vincent McShane.

IN SWIMMING HOLE

William Traub, son of Patrolman, goes beyond depth in Highland Creek.

William Traub, 9 years old, son of Patrolman Joseph P. Traub of 301 East Prairie Avenue, was drowned in a swimming hole in Highland Creek, near the Traub home, yesterday afternoon. His playmates looked on helplessly, unable to extricate him.

With several boys of the neighborhood, William went to the swimming hole. Paddling about, he suddenly found himself in deep water and sank while calling for aid.

A Negro, attracted by the screams of the boys, called to George Meier of 366 Carroll Avenue and James Mooney of 2307 Cass Avenue. In response to their call, Mooney went to the spot where William had disappeared and Mooney, after diving a number of times, came up with the body. The Fire Department was called upon for a pulmotor which was used without success.

By the Associated Press.
SAN PEDRO, Cal., June 9.—A spectacular fire which broke out at the Union Oil Co. refinery between here and Wilmington last night, was brought under control after raging almost two hours. Damage was estimated in excess of $100,000.

The fire was started by two explosions and the damage was said to be principally to the costly machinery of the plant. The tremendous heat made it difficult to fight the blaze.

Windows were blown out of nearby shops but none of the employes was injured. The blasts were believed to have been due to too rapid feeding of the acid which is used in the agitator process.

Plant of Union Oil Co., Near San Pedro, Cal., Damaged by Spectacular Blaze.

By the Associated Press.
SAN PEDRO, Cal., June 9.—A spectacular fire which broke out at the Union Oil Co. refinery between here and Wilmington last night, was brought under control after raging almost two hours. Damage was estimated in excess of $100,000.

The fire was started by two explosions and the damage was said to be principally to the costly machinery of the plant. The tremendous heat made it difficult to fight the blaze.

Windows were blown out of nearby shops but none of the employes was injured. The blasts were believed to have been due to too rapid feeding of the acid which is used in the agitator process.

FEDERAL SUPREME COURT SPEEDS UP CRIMINAL APPEALS

Taft Says Cases Carried Up From State Courts Will Be Heard Soon as Possible.

RECALLS LAXITY OF PROSECUTORS

Points Out That in Past Cases Lay Dormant Because Attorneys Did Not Push Them.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 9.—Chief Justice Taft, who left Washington yesterday for his summer home on Murray Bay, in Quebec, before his departure, served notice on State prosecuting officers that the United States Supreme Court will not tolerate any delay from them in its disposition of criminal appeals.

"We have bent every effort in the court," he said, "to prevent it being made the refuge of delay for defendants convicted in criminal cases who insist that in some way or other the Federal Constitution has been violated in their indictment, trial and conviction.

"In the past many have been successful in postponing the evil day by such a procedure. Under our present system every criminal case, whether coming from the State or the Federal courts, is advanced to be heard as promptly as under our rules, the record and the briefs will permit."

"We are anxious to have the State authorities charged with the duty of prosecuting criminal cases know that the court of its own motion is doing everything to facilitate the disposition of cases of this character."

"So often it has been true in the past that after the case has been lodged here the State authorities have allowed the case to lie along without any application for speeding its hearing, and the court finds a case presented to it two or three years after the capital or other sentence has been imposed and the delay permitted merely because no application has been made to us by the State authorities."

"Through the solicitor general, the Federal cases brought up are presented with great promptness. Indeed, under our certain system, they have to be, and we always advance them for hearing as soon as they are ready under the rules. And now we are, as I say, of our own motion bringing every State case before us just as soon as the rules and the necessity of printing permit."

McCLINTOCK'S FIANCÉE ASKS WIDOW'S SHARE OF $1,200,000

Prevented by W. D. Shepherd From Marrying Youth on Deathbed, She Charges.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 9.—Miss Isabella Pope has opened a new court fight against William D. Shepherd in her suit for a widow's share of the $1,200,000 estate of her fiance, the late William Nelson McClintock. Shepherd is executor and principal legatee under the will, which also is being contested by seven cousins of the young millionaire whose death four years ago has been followed by a chain of criminal as well as civil actions. Shepard was acquitted of a murder charge growing out of McClintock's death, which was attributed to typhoid fever.

Miss Pope, who is down for an $8,000 annuity in the will, charged that the widow's share should be given to her because Shepherd by fraud prevented her marriage to McClintock while the young man lay on his deathbed. She asks an accounting of Shepherd's management of the estate and also for the appointment of a receiver pending termination of litigation.

TRIPLE EAGLE STAMPS

Will Be Given With Cash Purchases.

Again Friday and Saturday!

2 More Days of the Opportunity That Comes to You When Most Helpful

THESE particular shopping days are unquestionably the most important of the entire Summer—and it has been a very long time since you had a Triple-Eagle-Stamp saving opportunity in mid-year! Its importance can best be understood by those who know the intrinsic worth of Eagle Stamps and appreciate the advantage of securing three instead of the usual one.

When you have choice of the largest Summer stocks ever assembled in St. Louis—stocks that have been chosen by specialists in their lines and through the unlimited resources of a buying organization that is one of the foremost in America—you can supply needs of all kinds and get full benefit of this opportunity.

Why You Should SAVE
Eagle Stamps

These stamps are given with cash purchases of 10c and over—few restricted articles excepted. A bookful may be redeemed at any time for $2 in cash or $2.50 in merchandise. It pays to save every one.

Triple Eagle Stamps Mean Triple Savings
in Addition to St. Louis' Best Values

When you make a purchase at Famous-Barr Co. you get the benefit of mass buying and distribution—which always means lower cost! Quantity buying for cash is a mighty power in the great wholesale markets! And in addition to this saving you receive Eagle Stamps which have cash and purchasing value. Then, when three may be secured instead of the usual one, the opportunity becomes one of utmost importance to the entire population of St. Louis and shopping radius.

Shop Friday and Saturday and Profit!

DETECTIVE WHO GOT BOMB PLOTTERS DIES

George Barnitz Was Famous for New York Cathedral and World War Captures.

By Lensed Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 9.—George D. Barnitz, 51 years old and a detective famous during the war for his work in exposing various German bomb plots in New York, particularly a conspiracy of anarchists to blow up St. Patrick's Cathedral in 1915, died yesterday at his home in Brooklyn after a long illness.

His greatest exploit was his arrest of two of the Bresci gang of anarchists, who had entered the cathedral to touch off a bomb.

Barnitz was disguised as an old man with grey hair and a heavy beard, although he was habitually clean shaven. Detective Amadeo Puligiano, closely associated with the conspirators and thought by them to be a member of their gang, walked into the church with them.

As they carried in the bomb, placed it in the center aisle and stooped to light it, Puligiano signaled to Barnitz and both jumped on the anarchists. Other detectives, dressed as scriveners, rushed to their aid. Both plotters now are serving sentences in Sing Sing.

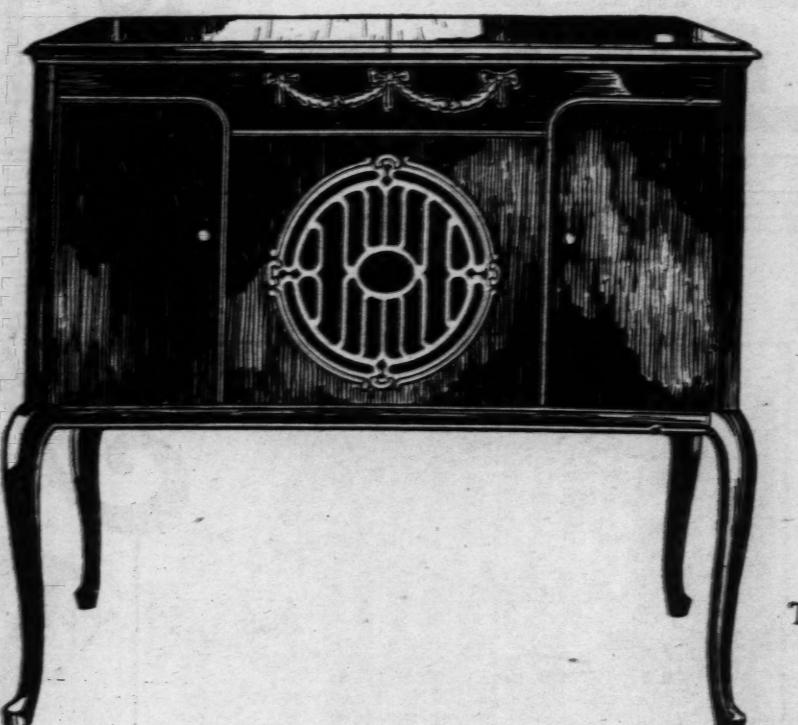

Barnitz was particularly active as a member of the bomb squad just before the United States entered the war against Germany, in April, 1917. He exposed a plot of German agents to destroy American ships and after American intervention was busy rounding up dangerous alien enemies.

DAM DYNAMITED TO RELEASE FLOOD WATERS IN BAYOU

Mass Meeting of Dwellers Above Barrier in Louisiana Decides to Remove It.

NO DANGER TO LAND BELOW DAM FEARED

Weather Bureau Warns That New High Water May Flood Lower Basin Until August.

By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, June 9.—Residents of the Bayou Black Section in the lower Atchafalaya basin are awaiting with confidence the passing of the flood as a result of the blowing up of a dam which held back the waters, late yesterday.

Bayou Black, a part of the Intra-Coastal Waterways system and the principal route of water travel between Houma and Morgan City, was dammed up several weeks ago when it was feared that the flood waters would inundate fertile lands below. Four hundred laborers day and night closing the dam and the water piled up behind it six feet higher than the level below.

The residents above the dam protested, but no action was taken until yesterday, at a mass meeting, when it was announced that the dam would be blown up and no interference would be brooked.

Two hundred citizens immediately began preparations to carry out their plans. Guards were stationed so that there would be no danger to persons in the vicinity and several charges of dynamite were set off.

The relief afforded by the action is expected to cover all danger of inundation above the dam and is not expected to endanger Houma and the section below.

Missouri-Arkansas Relief.

Henry M. Baker, Red Cross relief director, announced at his headquarters here that he had instructed area directors to provide food and shelter for the refugees who have been driven from their homes again by a recurrence of flood conditions in Arkansas, Missouri and Kentucky. Baker said that no accurate estimate of the number affected by the flood could be made, but reports indicated that several thousand were now being fed by the Red Cross.

The Weather Bureau reiterated its warning that the new flood probably will cause the southern portion of the Mississippi basin to remain largely flooded until the first of August.

The steamer Kankakee left Baton Rouge with 200 refugees who are returning to their homes near Leesville, La. A few persons were evacuating the concentration centers at Alexandria and La. Cross.

Tentative plans are under way for the demolition of the Government boats which have been bearing food and supplies to the Louisiana camps. The service will be maintained by the American Red Cross, relief officials said.

Farmers in Southern Illinois to Sow Without Plowing.

CAIRO, Ill., June 9.—Farmers driven from their homes in the Dogwood and McClure districts north of here by the Mississippi flood are preparing to return to their homes next week and sow cotton and corn without the aid of machinery.

The Red Cross has begun distribution of seed and it is believed a full crop may yet mature in the islands now covered by water, where plowing will not be necessary.

Leaves Near New Madrid Expected to Hold.

NEW MEXICO, Mo., June 9.—With a crest predicted for Saturday, New Madrid expects to escape inundation from the swollen Mississippi River, although water a few inches deep in parts of Farrenburg, caused by the April flood, have been repaired.

Government engineers believe they will withstand the present

May Flood Lower Basin
Until August.The Associated Press
NEW ORLEANS, June 9.—Residents of the Bayou Black Section of the lower Atchafalaya basin are waiting with confidence the passing of the flood as a result of blowing up of a dam which had back the waters late yesterday.

Bayou Black, a part of the Inter-County Waterways system and the principal route of water travel between Houma and Morgan City, was dynamited up several days ago when it was feared that flood waters would inundate the lands below. Four hundred laborers labored day and night closing the dam and the waters piled up until it stood six feet higher than the dam below.

The residents above the dam waited, but no action was taken until yesterday when a mass meeting, when it was announced that the dam would be blown up and no interference would be made.

Two hundred citizens immediately began preparations to carry out their plans. Guards were stationed so that there would be no danger to persons in the vicinity and several charges of dynamite were set off.

The relief afforded by the action expected to remove all danger and was expected to endanger Houma and the section below.

Missouri-Arkansas Relief.
Henry B. Baker, Red Cross relief director, announced at his office that he had induced area directors to provide food and shelter for the refugees who have been driven from their homes again by a recurrence of flood conditions in Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois and Kentucky. Baker said that no accurate estimate of the number affected by the new flood could be made, but reports indicated that several thousand were now being fed by the Red Cross.

The Weather Bureau reiterated a warning that the new flood would cause the southern end of the Mississippi basin to again be flooded until the end of August.

The steamer Kankakee left Baton Rouge with 200 refugees who are returning to their homes near New Orleans, La. A few persons evacuating the concentration centers at Alexandria and La Fayette.

Temporary plans are under way for the demolition of the government boats which have been brought food and supplies to the camps. The services will be maintained by the American Red Cross, relief officials said.

MASSACHUSETTS REJECTS
FEDERAL RULE OF VALUATION
ON "REPRODUCTION" BASIS

Prudent Investment Theory Alone Economically Sound Utilities Board Holds in Cutting Electricity Rate.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Members of the State Commission are studying with keen interest an opinion in which the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities (the State's Public Service Commission) unanimously and with great vigor reaffirmed its adherence to the long-established Massachusetts doctrine that a public utility should be limited to a return based on the capital "honest and prudent" invested in the enterprise.

The decision was given a few days ago on petition of the Mayor of Worcester and customers of the Worcester Electric Light Co. that the maximum rate of the company for electricity be reduced. An order was entered that the rate be cut from 7 cents to 5 cents a kilowatt hour. Two of the five commissioners would have reduced it to 4 1/2 cents.

Like the opinion of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the St. Louis &amp; San Antonio Railroad case, the Massachusetts decision is a trenchant challenge of the soundness of the valuation rule followed by the United States Supreme Court in recent cases. The commission serves notice that whatever others may do, and whatever may be the so-called Federal rule laid down by the Supreme Court, Massachusetts intends to be guided by the prudent investment doctrine.

Argues for Reproduction Cost.
The document is a cogent argument for this doctrine as opposed to the reproduction cost new theory. Relying on the Federal rule, the company presented a great deal of testimony as to what would be the reproduction cost of its property. It contended that under this rule it was entitled to a return based on the cost of reproduction and on such intangibles as going value and the cost of financing and organization.

Replying to this contention the commission said: "We are of the opinion that, whatever the situation may be in other jurisdictions, the law does not require the adoption of such rate base in Massachusetts. In this commonwealth the permits issued to gas and electric companies to use the highways for their distribution equipment are subject to revocation by the State at any time. Such companies have been given no permanent rights in the highways, and their use of them is at the will of the commonwealth. The very charters of the companies can be altered, amended or repealed at any time by the commonwealth."

"We cannot believe that the property of such companies situate in the public highways, subject at any time to an order of removal by the commonwealth, can or should, for rate-making purposes, be subject to any such rule of law as that which the company advances. Nor does it seem either logically or economically sound to contend that the conduits of the company in the public highways, become more valuable as the commonwealth or its municipalities lay down better and more expensive pavements and roads upon these conduits."

Built on Excessive Earnings.

"Much of the property of this company has been built up out of earnings. So far as we are aware, it has never been definitely established that in determining the base for the fixing of rates, consideration cannot be given to the fact that the value of the property employed has been largely developed at the expense of the public by the expenditure of past earnings, exceeding a fair return upon the capital invested."

"From the inception of this company and for a long time prior thereto public utility corporations have been organized and regulated in Massachusetts upon the theory that the investor had no just complaint if he received a fair return upon the capital honestly and prudently invested by him in the property devoted to the public use."

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress of reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely private affairs, always be financially independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Alsace-Lorraine Wants Autonomy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

SINCE November, 1918, when the last shot was fired for the liberation of the "enslaved nations of the world," very little was heard about the "redeemed children" of the various peoples engaged in the struggle against the Teutonic Powers. The peace dictation of Versailles obviously put everybody's mind at ease, at least as concerns the territorial questions of the war.

But it is a fact that not all of those national fragments are satisfied with the decision reached by the peace-makers of 1919. They are more and more subjected to a bitter tyranny and a brutal and narrow-minded nationalism, which not even in Czarist Russia could have surpassed.

Alsace-Lorraine is one of the countries shifted to another nation without the formal consent of the inhabitants. Today a wave of resentment sweeps that land since French hatred for everything German threatens to replace its language, spoken there for more than a thousand years and to destroy its laws and institutions gained under German rule. Today the Alsace-Lorrainers feel themselves a national minority, with the sacred right of self-determination. They again understand that they are a part of a great and glorious cultural unity outside the Latin sphere and that their language is to them just as dear and useful as French is to the French. And they learned to know that they are no Frenchmen, but something different like the Swiss, Dutch or the Dutch.

The Versailles peace dictation confronts the people of Alsace-Lorraine with the same problem the Bohemians, Tyrolians and Silesians are endeavoring to solve: National autonomy. A political party is being formed there now which calls itself the "Autonomie Party of Alsace-Lorraine," and which will seek representation in the French Chamber.

There is a rational association already in existence in Alsace-Lorraine, the Klettmbund. Its leader is Dr. Ricklin, former president of the Bundestag, the Alsatian Parliament under German rule. SCHNEIDER-FRANKE.

Curb Reckless Motorists.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ANSWERING R. G. B. in article captioned, "What Does the Coroner's Record Show," in your paper June 6:

It shows that many people have lost their lives, being run down while attempting to board or leave cars, by drivers who, given an inch, have taken a mile. I say all half to Alderman Wetzel, who designs to put a stop to the ruthless disregard of pedestrians by motorists who have taken advantage of the latitude granted them by the present law.

They have been given an opportunity and have proved they are unfit for it; therefore, pass a law and then rigidly enforce it. A NEAR VICTIM.

Psychology of the Flyers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

OUR TWO transatlantic flights should usher in not only an era of international good will, but a prolonged period of domestic peace, concord and harmony.

Lindbergh is not married; Chamberlin is. This should still at once the tiresome argument as to the respective abilities of married men and bachelors. Lindbergh did not make the flight to win a girl's heart, and even if that far-fetched argument is aduced, a cutting retort not at all favorable to the ladies, is at hand.

Lindbergh doesn't think, while Chamberlin admires him. End of argument. In the dry point with pride to Lindbergh's solo flight, we unregenerate wets can claim Chamberlin flew farther.

Finally, Lindbergh's first request was for sleep; Chamberlin's, for food. If that does not keep the psychologists from theorizing, what will?

In view of the happy results of these two flights, we need more and longer hops.

J. D. H.

This Looks Easy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHAT is the matter with the so-called law-makers of this country? Are they fit to be in Congress? Instead of quarreling and fighting continually and working on their political fences, why don't they pass a sensible law to abolish floods?

If we had a law requiring the Government to dredge the Mississippi River and build a driveway from St. Paul to New Orleans, and use the material from such improvements to build and maintain a high levee all along the flood plain, we could not have any floods. Inasmuch as the Government owns the river it should be held strictly accountable for every dollar's worth of damage done by it to private property just the same as individuals are, and the only guarantee of such responsibility is for the Government to have a comprehensive law requiring the above improvements, with a regular and liberal appropriation to carry on the work.

The regular dredging of the Mississippi River and maintenance of roads would only protect everybody from floods, but it would give thousands of people regular work and benefit all travelers enormously.

TRAVELER.

A COMMERCIAL AGE?

It is sometimes said that this is a commercial age. A time of mere money grubbing, without color or romance, but is it? With a Lindbergh lightly flying over the Atlantic, to describe to us how the clouds of mid-ocean look to one traveling above them, and with life laughingly hazarded in more ways and upon more scores than the world has ever known, what were the feats of the ancients or the thrills of medievalism beside the daring and romance of our own incomparable time?

Now is it true that America is merely materialistic. The Europeans know better than that now. They have not gone out to Le Bourget to see one of our boys come circling in out of the night from a point as far away as New York, or gathered on the Tempelhofer Field to greet another of our boys come by stress and storm from America to Germany, to remain steadfast in that sordid opinion of us. Thanks to Lindbergh and Chamberlin, they see us now for what we are, a people in whom the spiritual and the material are so blended that we are as well able to outdo the fabled heroes of old in spirit as we are in science. That surely is not a bad quality in us which can first master and finance the problem of the aircrashed engine and then furnish the human mettle that is to fly the sea with it.

In truth (and how little we realize it!) the romance for so long charmed the world, the things accounted miraculous, and the inspiration of song and legend, have become to us the excitements of children. A Marco Polo, a Christopher Columbus, a Balboa, even, first looking down upon the Pacific, were in a drama feeble by comparison with the dramatic things of today.

One day a Byrd, putting life behind him as truly as anyone contemptuous of life ever did in days of old, when men scorned death, flies to the North Pole, circles about it, and flies back to his hangar. Another day an Amundsen, having already exhausted the thrill of merely going to one of the poles afoot, sails over the North Pole in a dirigible and lands in a quiet Alaskan bay. Another day, Plinio, setting out from the coast of Africa, drops in at the Azores, and then upon South and North America, and so back to Europe, covering four continents. Meanwhile, through the reaches of the sky everywhere, counting life but dross, but as truly possessed by the spirit of adventure as the unfortunate Icarus was when he braved the sun with his waxen wings, men are flying for love of adventure, daring whatever may-seek-ing to make India, or to reach Japan—a spirit that easily makes out our true Age of Romance.

There was never another time like it. As Troy was certain of her Homer, so may we be sure that we are living in a time that shall thrill the ages.

COME, BYRD!

While Lindbergh relaxes upon the deck of the Memphis, dreaming of other oceans to conquer, and Chamberlin sits up to his beer and frankfurters in Berlin, toying with offers to fly back, Commander Richard E. Byrd, who was one of those caught flat-footed in the race to Paris, dallies at Roosevelt Field.

Come, Byrd! The world grows stale. When there is nobody making the sea ashamed of itself, with an ecstatic world hanging breathless upon the outcome, we are reduced to what Mr. Coolidge will probably do about a third term, the appalling effeminacy of Earl Carroll, prospects of trouble between Russia and Poland, divorce among the Vanderbilts, a bank failure at Cananau, Mo., what Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri, thinks education is coming to, and an occasional faint sound of revelry from Ontario.

Come, Byrd!

OUR CROWDED UNIVERSITIES.

From the annual day address of Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri, we learn that Missouri is afflicted with the same form of elephantiasis that is troubling other institutions of higher learning. It is obliged to expand at an increasing rate to care for a rapidly growing enrollment, and both university and student are suffering in consequence.

For a private institution this problem is not insoluble, as Johns Hopkins has lately proved. The University, faced with the need of increasing its size to care for more and still more students, abandoned the first two years of college work and returned to its original status as a genuine institution of higher learning, as it was in the days of Daniel Coit Gilman.

But a state institution is naturally unable to do this. Nor will raising admission requirements be a just solution of the difficulty, since, as Dr. Brooks points out, this penalizes the student who is financially unable to take special preparatory work. The recent suggestion of another university president that students be dropped after the sophomore year seems likewise unsatisfactory, since it is the first and second year enrollments which chiefly account for the present law.

They have been given an opportunity and have proved they are unfit for it; therefore, pass a law and then rigidly enforce it. A NEAR VICTIM.

HUMOR AND POLITICS.

We suspect that our political diagnosticians, who are almost daily voicing their amazement over the fact that Americans do not vote in as great numbers as they might, could do worse than follow the suggestion of an unnamed philosopher, that the best way to understand a nation's peculiarities is to study it at play. They would find that our play possesses a quality which seldom gets into our politics.

This quality is humor. It is the thing we Americans chiefly demand in our off-hours, and which must distinguish nearly every form of recreation in which we engage. Thus all higher forms of art, which subordinate humor to other qualities, are tragically subbed, while the so-called "lively arts" are immensely popular. Our symphony orchestras, operatic companies, and art museums usually have通俗的, while our jazz, movies and popular humorists find the picking exceedingly easy.

But there seems to be a notion that humor should not intrude into our political life, that a solemn expression and a heavy and pontific manner are necessary to woo the electorate. This may have been true in the days of the Founding Fathers, all of whom, except Franklin and possibly Jefferson, appear to have possessed little humor. But we doubt that it has ever been so true at any time since then.

Our politics may require more good story-tellers like Lincoln and more satirists like Reed.

WE LOSE BUDDY SAMPLE.

Ye that grieve for Hornsby, tune up your lachrymal glands again. We are to lose Buddy Sample, Buddy, you remember, was the one-man track team at Webster Groves High School. When the team went into an interscholastic meet, there was just Buddy, with the rest of Webster on the sidelines. It was always enough Buddy competed against 67 other teams at Manhattan, Kan., last month and won first. In the Washington University Stadium on May 7 of this year, Webster, led by Buddy, won, for the third successive year, the Mississippi Valley track meet, thereby coming into permanent possession of a cup that had been competition for 27 years. Buddy was on that occasion confined to three events, and he was all of them. They had to make rules to keep him from cleaning up the platter, which he has been doing regularly over most of the Middle-Western states. In some of these meets there were more than 600 students competing, boys raised on the yellow corn of Nebraska and nursed on the vigor and vim of Texas, but it was always the young Hercules, Buddy, who won.

Now Buddy is going to college. Where? Around here somewhere? No. He is going to the University of Southern California. Get out the sackbut and the pibroch, all ye that are miserable, and let us have grief.

"How's that?" asked Mr. Hennessy. "Look you, young Pete Dunne and what a cr-r-rot fat he has been after doin' to him," said Mr. Dooley.

"What's happened to him?" demanded Mr. Hennessy.

"Poor fellah, his best friend, Mister Payne Whitney, died and almost lift him out o' his will," explained Mr. Dooley.

"Why, he cut Dunne off with a mere paltry folye hundr'd thousand dollars."

A LESSON IN DARWINISM.

From the New York Evening Post.

THERE doesn't seem to be any way of keeping the Darwinian theory down.

ANOTHER SERAJEVO?

The relations between Poland and Russia, always strained at best, may possibly be sundered by the assassination at Warsaw of the Soviet Minister to Poland, M. Volkoff, by the nineteen-year-old Russian student, Boris Koweda, who is described as a member of the "monarchist party."

Russia's attitude in the premises is suspicious, critical, almost belligerent. She has accepted Poland's condolences and expressions of horror at the crime with threatening reservations. She officially announces her intention to conduct an investigation of her own, withholding judgment pending the results of that inquiry. If she does not accuse Poland of connivance in the outrage she does not absolve her.

Will the sequence of this murder ultimately disclose intrigue and political plotting? The question were unthinkable except for the fact that the assassination at Serajevo in April, 1914—the prelude to Armageddon—when public opinion generally held to be the act of a madman, was subsequently shown to be the consummation of a conspiracy involving Serbian officials, according to circumstantial evidence.

The crime at Warsaw has already been characterized as another Serajevo—the first gun in another world war. Such a consequence seems impossible from this distance. But, regardless of Serbian responsibility or knowledge of Serajevo, war could have been avoided but for the arrogance of Austria, which found in the murder of Ferdinand and his wife an occasion for imperial conquest.

That Soviet Russia suffers from her own peculiar brand of imperialistic itch cannot be doubted. If Vienna's mood of 1914 prevails in Moscow who can say what madness may not be attempted?

VANZETTI'S PAMPHLET.

In the pile of literature emanating from the presses of the Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee is a pamphlet written by Vanzetti himself. It relates to his trial at Plymouth for an attempted holdup at Bridgewater in 1919, an entirely different crime from the one for which the two men have been sentenced to death. Vanzetti was found guilty and was given the maximum punishment of 15 to 15 years in the penitentiary. His conviction in the Bridgewater case undoubtedly weighed against him and Sacco in the Braintree one.

When the Bridgewater holdup took place, Vanzetti was delivering fish and eels to his customers at Plymouth, a fact which he established by defense witnesses. However, in face of a clever prosecution and what Vanzetti insists was the treachery of his own lawyer, a jury found him guilty. One of the main facts upon which the verdict was based was that four months after the Bridgewater affair, four shotgun shells like those used in the attempted robbery were found in Vanzetti's pocket.

While the pamphlet rolls up an impressive showing of innocence, it is not an astute document. It is interlarded with personalities, suspicions, vague fears and other non-essentials—all excusable to be sure from a man who has been persecuted but of such nature as to detract from the force of the argument. Vanzetti is not an intellectual giant and he is not at home in the English language. It is evident that he is not the man to argue his case.

Both Sacco and Vanzetti were badly defended until William G. Thompson went to their aid. By that time, however, the damage was done. After examining the history of this unusual proceeding, one feels more and more that the whole mess might have been avoided if the defense from the beginning had been in capable hands.

DAWES AND KELLOGG.

Gen. Dawes would have been happier in what he said of career men in diplomacy, aided by the seniority rule, at last mounts into high places where his limited talent does not meet the necessities of the country. Indeed, he is convinced that if our foreign relations were altogether left to those who have risen in the service by virtue of being the longest in it we would at last find ourselves in actual peril as a consequence of their maladroitness.

Gen. Dawes says the career man in diplomacy, aided by the seniority rule, at last mounts into high places where his limited talent does not meet the necessities of the country. Indeed, he is convinced that if our foreign relations were altogether left to those who have risen in the service by virtue of being the longest in it we would at last find ourselves in actual peril as a consequence of their maladroitness.

Gen. Dawes says we are to be the favorite candidate among Republicans and Gov. Smith of New York the leading contender among Democrats. The poll covered 29 states and brought out a total of 362,210 votes. More interesting, though, than the sentiment in favor of "Cal" and "Al"—which has long been apparent—is the close ness to President Coolidge of ex-Gov. Lowden of Illinois. Mr. Coolidge received 87,176 votes, with 8390 persons voting for him as second choice. Mr. Lowden received 80,065 votes as first choice and 12,546 as a second pick. Probably his strong show in Illinois partly led to the result that the poll was largely in agricultural communities.

Next in the popularity race is Mr. Kellogg, who has been a good deal more successful in his campaign than the others. He has been elected to Congress from Michigan, and he has been elected to the Senate from Illinois.

It matters not what others plan. Nor how their deeds you may value. I am a duly married man. Yet still the captain of my soul.

Of Making Many Books

JOHN GNEIMARDT

Bravo,
Mrs. Haldane!!

MAN'S WORLD. By Charlotte Haldane. (Doran.)

MANY will remember the two brilliant little volumes, "Icarus" and "Daedalus," with which the "Today and Tomorrow" was inaugurated several years ago. In the former, Bertrand Haldane presented the gloomy view of science, and in the latter, J. D. Haldane, the famous biologist, drew a rosy picture of a future world wholly controlled by scientific methods. Now comes Mrs. Haldane with a novel in which, one rather suspects, she has unbroken to "kids" her distinguished husband.

Mrs. Haldane calls her novel "Man's World," and it would seem that there is a sly wink even in the title; for the exclusively scientific world she has constructed, evidently out of hubby's pet hypotheses, is no man's world at all. It is pretty much a woman's world in which, so far as that research is concerned, society is concerned with but four matters, conception, gestation, parturition, and training of the fourth being but preparation for the other three. It is true that there are men in the world, and at a certain moment in the social process they "collaborate." We are given to understand. At all other times they fly about the sky aimlessly and spend their days in delving deeper into the mechanisms of physiological functions. Apparatus machinery has been developed to such perfection that food is taken for granted, as the air is now.

Nothing has been overlooked in this biological utopia; nothing has been left to chance or to "nature." There is a central committee that determines just how many boys and girls shall be born and just who is to be born, which and when, exactly the proper time, every young lady is notified that she is to "collaborate" within a given period, and, having done so, she retires to a "mother's garage" where the matter of sex determination is attended to by scientific chaps who do nothing else. If the lady should refuse to "collaborate," she is sterilized and becomes one of a body of "enterprises," whose function need not be described. There are also certain ladies who become "neuters" and these perform menial tasks.

Long since, the idealistic male has been eliminated, or, rather, has had the social influence. Now, the dreamer has become an antiquated type. A poet is a religionist of any sort in this strictly eugenic and thoroughly aseptic world would be regarded as a lamentable reversion to a simian type. "Better babies" is the slogan of this society, though just what the babies are "made" for does not appear. Here, no doubt, is the point that has bothered Mrs. Haldane. Even she has seen that while materialistic science can do many interesting and useful things, it cannot give life a meaning. And surely life of that sort is well described as "a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

Happily, there are two rebels in this ultra-scientific world, Christopher, a poet, and his sister, Nicolette. Characteristically, the revolt of the latter is based on personal considerations. Nicolette proposes to have babies of her own sweet way, and science to be damned. Christopher is the only citizen of that world who realizes that human values, all that can be in any way justified by the life of men, are not to be apprehended by the scientific method. Hear him: "Tell me what there is in this world of yours! You, with your 100 per cent man and your 100 per cent woman! I'm glad I'm not one of you! You draw a map of a man's consciousness as you do of the 'genes' of a rabbit. You tinker about and fiddle about with every living thing; you babble about 'natural' family and 'social value' and all of your nonsense! You mean to tell me seriously that you attach the slightest ultimate significance to it all? Even as I speak to you, I can see what you are thinking. 'Neurosis, due to whatever you like to call it—and if we gave him so and so, and mucked about so and so, and with a few hefty doses of hypnosis, we could make quite a nice, normal little man of him!'"

Having no desire to be a "nice normal little man" in the strictly eugenic sense, Christopher steps up to the plate, applies without the usual supply of oxygen, sells straight up—and that's the last of him. Bravo, Chris!

Also, bravo Mrs. Haldane! A letter just received from Upton Sinclair contains the following passage:

"A censorship maintained by church organizations has succeeded in causing all the book stores of the city of Boston to withdraw my new novel 'Oil,' from sale in that city. A book store clerk has been arrested and is held under $200 bail. In the case of 'Oil,' the motive is obviously political, due to my picture of the control of our Government by the petroleum interests; also, in part religious, because of my satirizing of a prominent evangelist. I have never written an indecent book, and resent the charge that I have done so. I am on my way to Boston to put this book on sale, and I expect to be arrested for it."

THE GREATER EXPLOIT.
(Levina Left Without Telling His Wife)
Out of the fame that covers me
For having reached that far flung goal
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance,
When rumors of the flight were ripe,
I dared to take an awful chance,
I left, nor did I tell the wife.

Beyond the world's applause and cheers
Looms but the fear she may upbraid,
And yet the menace of her tears
Finds, and shall find me, unsafe.

It matters not what others plan,
Nor how their deeds you may extol,
I am a duly married man
Yet still the captain of my soul.

THE CONSERVATIVE GARDENER.
Sir: Of course, the weather has not been all that it should have been. Again, former attempts at a garden may have convinced him that seed catalogues sometimes paint with too rosy a brush. Or people walking across what was meant to be a lawn may have disgruntled him. Anyway, the sign says:

TRYING TO GROW GRASS
KEEP OFF

THE OFFICIAL OBSERVER.

THE CHICAGO FUNDAMENTALIST.

The earth, we are taught, turns from west to east. "Lindy" was traveling in the same direction as the earth. He traveled at the rate of about 115 miles an hour. The earth moves about 1037 miles an hour, or makes a complete revolution in 24. Therefore, it seems to me, Paris would have made a complete circle past Lindbergh in his 33 hours in the air. To me it seems more likely that the earth is stationary and the sun moves. Will somebody please explain this to me?

—Letter to the Chicago Daily News

One advantage in a late spring is that you may either shovel coal or cut the grass or both.

A Tempest in a Teapot.

Mussolini's statement that his success is not yet born has caused much unwanted anxiety. If we are to assume that the Duce's statistics are reliable, the birth rate among dictators is gratifyingly low. One a century seems to be the average. Of course, that is needlessly high, but consider that it might be higher.

Statistics show that the average Frenchman smokes 40 cigarettes to one cigar, and unless French cigarettes have improved, we think it is the Frenchman's own fault.

And in the old days, an American Ambassador had to know who was who in society, in place of his own.

The only news from China that is not immediately contradicted is a cable telling of the arrival of more Marines.

They hold so many naval conferences in Geneva that it is impossible to tell if a man is a delegate to the last one or to the next one.

DEATH OF MAN, 62, STRUCK BY AUTO AN ACCIDENT

Jesse L. Sherman, Insurance Agent, 53rd Victim on Year's Motor Vehicle Death List.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the death of Jesse L. Sherman, 62 years old, who was fatally injured when struck by an automobile yesterday. He died at City Hospital of a fractured skull and internal injuries three hours after he was run down.

Sherman stepped from between two parked automobiles in front of 4311 St. Louis avenue when he was hit by a machine driven by Louis Forst, of 4723A St. Louis avenue, the right front fender of Forst's machine hitting him to the ground. Witnesses agreed the accident was unavoidable.

The death was the fifty-third motor vehicle fatality of the year, 15 less than during the same period of 1926.

Man, 75, One of Six Injured in Three Auto Accidents.

An automobile driven by Edmund Komo, 16 years old, of 418A Arsenal street, collided with another machine at 7:30 last night at Oak Hill avenue and Arsenal, injuring the two occupants, Arthur Hager, 12, of 318 Russell place, and Mrs. Emily Hager, 52, of 1511 Russell place. They were taken to City Hospital, where Mrs. Bertelt was pronounced suffering from internal injuries and a fractured pelvis, and Hoffman from body bruises.

Frank Winscher, 75, of 3234 Caroline street, dodged a northbound street car at Grand boulevard and Caroline at 5:20 p. m. and stepped into the path of a northbound automobile driven by James Hager of 4940A McPherson avenue. He suffered a skull fracture.

Two girls and a boy were injured at 8 p. m., when a rented automobile in which they were riding collided with another machine at Blow street and Michigan avenue. The injured are: Don Wilson, 17, 1223 Monroe street, fractured jaw and possible skull fracture; Miss Marie Woelfen, 17, of 5312 North Market street, fractured hip and possible skull fracture, and Miss Ruth Griffith, 13, 3818 West Avenue, head laceration. The driver of the other machine, Sylvester Hale, of 6024 Michigan avenue, was arrested.

Burned to Death in Oil Well Fire. PAMPA, Tex., June 9.—Earl Lee Masters of Borger, Tex., a tool dresser, was burned to death near here when the Empire Oil Co.'s No. 1 well caught fire. Flames fed by a 200-barrel oil flow and gas shot 30 feet in the air when the explosion occurred.

approach cost or twice that sum. The charges, of course, would be paid by the shipper.

Smith discussed the penalties upon the liability of the commission of the large trunk lines entering the city into the Terminal Association. He thought that competition, while existing to a limited extent, found the railroads presenting a solid front when anything interpreted as affecting their common interest arose. He cited that other cities were receiving greater consideration at the hands of their roads in the matter of improvements than was St. Louis.

The Mayor is endeavoring to cover the bill for the southern approach through the Board of Aldermen before its adjournment on June 24.

WOULD DIVIDE ILLINOIS

Move Made in Senate to Split State in North and South.

By the Associated Press, SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 9.—A resolution designed to divide the State into "Northern Illinois" and "Southern Illinois" was offered in the State Senate last night after a battle over a resolution to re-portion the State.

The resolution, introduced by John T. Denver, minority floor leader of the Senate, asked Congress to make the change, giving to Northern Illinois the County of Cook and eight adjacent counties, and to Southern Illinois the remainder of the State.

The Cartwright Motor Co.,
Locust at 33d,
St. Louis, Mo.

In reply to your request for information as to how the Studebaker which I bought from you is running, I wish to say I am getting excellent service from it and appreciate fully the business-like way the entire deal was handled.

When I complained to you in regard to the clutch making some noise, which in my mind, only meant a case of tightening up, I was very much surprised to find that at quite an expense to you, you dismantled the entire clutch and made it new. The most unusual experience was that you apparently were only too glad to do it and did not even request a cent in payment for it, which is unusual and so often in a case of this kind an argument develops.

I fully appreciate your way of doing business and your principles of doing it are unusual in the automobile business.

Thanking you very much for our pleasant association, I beg to remain

Cordially yours,

W.R. Curtis
Supt. City Schools.

By the Associated Press
GLEN FALLS, N. Y., June 9.—Mrs. Alice Fraser, of South Horcon, in the Adirondacks, is under arrest here on a charge of murder, and Stephen Baker, her admirer, is held as an accessory, following an investigation into the death of Byron Fraser, the woman's husband.

Mrs. Fraser is said to have admitted to District Attorney Beck with she put poison in her husband's coffee. Fraser was found dead in his farm house last Sunday. An autopsy showed evidence of poison in his stomach.

Two years ago Mrs. Fraser was named co-respondent in a divorce action brought against Baker. The divorce was granted.

Soaks clothes whiter than you could scrub them

A GRANULATED laundry soap—that makes the hardest water soft, rich and wonderfully sudsy.

That's Rinso! Once you try it for the week's wash, you'll never go back to old-fashioned methods again.

There's nothing like Rinso! It soaks dirt and stains free without one bit of hard rubbing. No boiling, either—for Rinso soaks clothes so clean they're actually sterilized!

In washing machine or tub, Rinso gets the wash whiter, brighter than ever! Millions everywhere know this to be true. No wonder the makers of 31 leading washing machines endorse Rinso!

With Rinso, you need nothing else on

If you wash by hand
—you'll be amazed to see how Rinso saves you hours of hard rubbing. It actually soaks clothes whiter than you could scrub them!

Clicquot Club Ginger Ale
Golden or Pale Dry

To suit your taste or the time, you need only say "Clicquot Club." And whether your choice be the rich, full-flavored Golden or the delicate Pale Dry, you are sure of the same mellow flavor that is the result of six months' aging... away from light and air.

The name Clicquot Club is your guarantee of the worth of a product whose ingredients are skillfully blended with water of virgin purity from a natural source, and properly aged.

Only the crystal liquid from the famous Clicquot Spring is used in making these two types of the supreme ginger ale. With this, according to a secret formula which cannot be duplicated, are blended the choicest of flavorings. And a six-months' aging gives these ingredients a chance to thoroughly blend into a full flowering of the unequalled Clicquot Club flavor.

All of this is carried out in the spirit of true craftsmanship, and under expert supervision, at every step of the process.

For more than forty years this healthful beverage has been the prime favorite of those who know and appreciate "vintage" ginger ale.

some day be a great electrician and daredevil. One of "Chink's" favorite stunts was to strip down one of his old cars, and take the fair members of the town for rides. In winter he had his greatest fun, when he would race down the street with his fair companions, and then stop on the brakes, causing the car to twist and turn several times on the snowy, icy pavements.

On several occasions he had "run ins" with the village Marshal for driving his motor cycle and later his dilapidated automobiles on the sidewalks of Denison.

Quick to Enter War Service.

However, despite his pranks, there is not a settler around here who would say that Chamberlin was a "bad" boy. He played his jokes and teased the girls, but he never was in serious trouble.

And even now "Chink" does not drink, smoke or even swear.

When war broke out, Clarence was one of the first to enlist from Denison. He went to Omaha one day, and telephoned back to his parents that he was a "soldier boy now." He had enlisted into the balloon corps.

Later he was transferred to the Aviation Corps and sent to Rantoul Field, Ill., where he received a commission as Second Lieutenant.

He was shipped here and there, in this country, during the war, until finally he received word to get ready to go to Hoboken, preparatory to going to France. That was one of the big moments of his life, he wrote his folks.

Married During War Period.

Finally he landed at Hoboken, and his ambition of going to France seemed about to be realized.

But—that was in November, and a day before the ship was scheduled to sail the armistice was signed, and the boys were ordered off the boat.

At that time he wired back to his folks in Denison, "Hell—your loving son."

While he was still in the service, he quietly asked for a two weeks' leave of absence and skipped over Independence, Ia., where he was married to his grade school sweetheart, Willa Marget. Her parents, who are wealthy farmers, still live at Independence, and are tickled over their son-in-law'sfeat as his parents are.

In fact, they listen to each radio report, and like many of the natives around Denison, kept their radios going all night long in hopes of hearing some good news.

After being ordered off the ship at Hoboken, Chamberlin was again transferred to several flying fields, where he grasped every opportunity to fly or work on airplanes. Finally he was transferred to Fort Monroe, Va., where he was discharged in April, 1919.

Homestick for Old Town.

He headed right for home. "For once," Clarence admitted that he was homesick," said his sister, while telling about his homecoming. "He kissed all of us, and even many who were not in the family," she said. "He was so tickled to get back to Denison again."

Shortly after arriving home, he volunteered to paint his father's barn. His father told him that just because he was an aviator he could not crawl around on buildings, 50 feet off the ground, but "Chink" insisted on doing the job. He got to the top rung of the ladder when it broke and Clarence had his first bad accident. He broke both of his arms.

He had been able to go up thousands of feet in an airplane, but he could not get 25 feet off the ground, by climbing a ladder, without injuring himself.

For a long time it was feared that Chamberlin's flying days were over as one of his arms did not knit properly. Finally it was decided to break the bone again, rather than have it remain badly bent.

His fall from the ladder was only the first of a series of accidents.

Drove With Leg in a Cast.

On one occasion he was in a smash-up when the engine of his plane went dead on him. He suffered a broken leg. His wife wrote back to his mother for him that "Don't worry, mother. I'll be back in the cockpit in three months."

He was not back in three months, but he was back driving a plane before his leg was out of a cast.

His last accident was in 1925, when he was in the international air races, and, while flying low, hit some telegraph cables. This wrecked his plane, but he was uninjured.

ARTIFICIAL CREATION OF LIFE INEVITABLE, SAYS LODGE

Sir Oliver Cites Fact That Many Compounds Found In Protoplasm Are Made In the Laboratory.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.
Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, June 9.—Artificial creation of life is not an impossibility, but from some points of view is inevitable. Sir Oliver Lodge declared in a lecture at Oxford University on the subject of "Life and Matter."

Many organic compounds found in living organisms are created by them have been made in the laboratory, Sir Oliver explained yesterday. He instance sugar and starch.

"It is sometimes said by students of organic chemistry and by biochemists who study protoplasm," he said, "that if we could contrive in the laboratory to continue the manufacture of organic compounds until we had a mass of protoplasm and were able to subject it to suitable pressure, they would expect that artificial protoplasm to exhibit vitality and manifest one or another form of life."

"I would not in the least seek to deny that proposition. I certainly would not consider it impossible. I would even regard it probable, indeed from some points of view. I should regard the contention as inevitable, because of the undoubted fact that living things have appeared on this planet which once was a mass of molten material or even glowing gas in which life as we know it was impossible."

"Hence it would appear that something of the kind has gone on in the past and what has gone on in the past may go on in the present and may possibly be understood, controlled and humanly managed in the future."

After giving his ideas of the physical constitution of ether, Sir Oliver continued: "If ether is constituted as I suggest, it must be the seat of enormous energy far beyond any energy of which we have any conception. My speculation is that this boundless ether, so full of energy, is utilized and regenerated throughout with something that may be called life and mind."

"I have an idea that that is the home of the ideal and supernal and that all life and mind of which we are conscious is but an infinitesimal fraction of this majestic reality. I conceive of ether as the vehicle or physical concomitant of this supreme mind."

"It may be that spirit is a better term. That spirit permeates

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles don't know that quick and permanent relief can be accomplished with internal medicine. Cutting or any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will not remove them.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is stagnation of blood circulation in the rectum, the veins becoming weak and failing.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the remedy and called his son, W. H. Burke, to help him. He tried it in many, many cases with a marvelous record of success, such a wonderful result that he sold it to drugists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

It is not necessary to apply any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID, from Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores, today. It gives quick and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same to you.

Circle Trail Rides

from Banff or Lake Louise

Stride a steady pony that's astride an airy peak—the Canadian Rockies at your feet; sunset wrapped around a bungalow camp in sight; and oh, what an appetite! You're not the same without a car in the world. With eternal youth singing in her veins. With enchanting thoughts centered on what's sizzling in a pad down there. You couldn't wait till you've drunk the Canadian Rockies' atmosphere, chummed with the care-free crowd on the trails! Our agent will tell you about it—ask him quick—vacation is almost here.

STOCK PRICE MOVEMENTS CONFUSED

Unusually Large Percentage of Day's Total Sales Represented by Low Priced Oils and Other Non-Dividend Issues.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE WILL BE CLOSED MONDAY, HONORING COL. LINDBERGH

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange voted to close the exchange all day Monday in observance of the New York City welcome to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The New York curb market also voted to close all day Monday.

The Cotton Exchange will close at noon.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Another wave of buying in railroad shares, accompanied by several new high records, together with heavy speculation for the advance in low-priced oil stocks contrasted with active profit-taking and renewed selling for the decline in the general list on the stock market today. Transactions continued in large volume, but low-priced stocks contributed a high percentage of sales. Anxiety over the Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate was revived by reports of an expected announcement."

Undertone Becomes Uncas.

"Whether signs of extensive profit-taking in several recently active specialties or indications of speculative excesses in nondividend stocks tended to undermine confidence in the market's stability the fact remained that the undertone became more uncertain in the afternoon and price movements became less fusing. Reports that the Federal Reserve Board was to make an important announcement after the close of the session proved a disturbing factor, although the announcement had a sobering influence in commission house circles. The volume of business contracted somewhat, but transactions again exceeded 2,000,000 shares, continuing the unbroken string to 16 days. Of the total, however, an unusual large percentage was represented by low-priced oils and other nondividend issues. Railroad shares, which were in brisk demand in the forenoon, contributed to the total."

Bids for Rails to Fall.

"Bidding for railroad shares continued active for a time new peaks being recorded by Reading, Rock Island, Texas & Pacific, Illinois Central and Norfolk & Southern. Atlantic Coast lines closed briskly while Lehigh Valley, quoted and then sagged. Irregularities more pronounced in the industrial list, several new high records in specialties being offset by weakness in such stocks as Pittsburgh Coal, Pittsburgh Terminal Coal, Brown Boveri, Electric Refrigerators, Loose-Wiles and others. Speculators for the advance attempted to stem the selling movement by putting in positions of large July reinvestment decisions. Another favorable factor was the return to 4 per cent for demand loans in the afternoon. Toward the end of the session a steader tone prevailed throughout the list after General Motors had forged ahead to a new top for the year."

Exchange Changes Irregular.

"Fluctuations in the foreign exchange market were very low and irregular. Spanish rates rallied, while American exchange eased off slightly. The remainder of the European list was fairly steady. Canadian rates again dipped fractionally."

No Change in Discount Rate.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The Federal Reserve Bank of New York made no change today in its 4-per-cent discount rate.

D. R. Weller is Elected S. O. of Louisiana Head.

RATON, La., June 9.—D. R. Weller, 36, president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, was elected president of the board of directors here today. He succeeds C. E. Charles, who died last March.

be bygones. You never saw one of them without the other, they went to church together and they went to parties together and they went walking together and they even went marketing together.

When John Thurston died one day, everybody said, "What will Mary do without him?"

And Mary is doing very well without him. She has taken up her life as it was when he went and she is going on head-up, eyes smiling.

"My prayers have been answered," she says. "I always wanted John to go first. I knew I could stand it better than he could. It won't be long now and I must not make him grieve by grieving too much myself."

She didn't need any school to Real love, real understanding, real patience—aren't they the main

Moth Worms Do Damage.
In avoiding moth damage, it is well to remember that the flying moth never eats. Its only function in life is to lay eggs, which, in turn hatch into caterpillars or larvae. These moth worms do all the damage.
Protection can be given woolens only by spraying them with a liquid which scientists have been able to make odorless and colorless.

Painted Evening Dresses.
NEW YORK—Nearly all formal evening dresses are made with an irregular skirt composed of several points. The bodice has its points in the extremely low V-shaped decolletage which is cut almost to the waistline in front and back.
However, many of the less daring fill in the lower points of these decolletages with fresh colored fulls or chiffon.

Starring Dulcie Jayne

VIRGINIA TRACY

SYNOPSIS.

Cornelia Marsh, employed in the scenario department of Hertzog's Perfection Motion Picture Studio at Fort Lee, New Jersey, learns with sorrow that Henry Horner, the head of the department, has been fired by Lyman Hertzog, son of the owner of the studio. Everyone knows that Lyman is jealous of Henry because he is in love with Dulcie Jayne, the star of the studio, but Dulcie seems to prefer her director, Daniel K. Leland.

Mr. Hertzog suggests to Lyman that they feature Leland as an actor as well as a director and this causes a quarrel between father and son. Old Mr. Hertzog suffers a stroke of apoplexy as a result and Lyman is left in charge of the studio. His first independent action is to discharge Leland, who takes his dismissal coolly and proceeds to finish a picture he's been working on. Lyman meets Dulcie on location and tries to force himself on her.

INSTALLMENT XXIV.

A LETTER FROM HENRY.

Cornelia suddenly remembered having meant to run down to the grocery store at lunch-time and change the five dollar bill which was all she had in her purse. As she came out of the grocery again, she was not very well pleased to have to turn back, hearing her name called.

"Miss Marsh! O, Miss Marsh! It is Miss Marsh, isn't it?"

From a handsome closed car, drawn up to the footpath, an equally handsome woman, large and dark, leaned out to address Cornelia in these unexpectedly knowledgeable terms.

As Cornelia dazedly nodded, the dark woman hurried on, "O, the instant you get back, Miss Marsh, won't you tell Mr. Leland that I'm waiting for him down here—he knows that I really can't drive right up to the studio. Thanks a thousand times! And O, please, do ask him to hurry—we've no time to lose!"

That message Cornelia had no need to give. For, as she re-entered Hertzog's, Leland came hurrying out, carrying a suitcase; Benny, also laden, at his heels. They dashed down the steps, rushed the length of the rutted drive, ran down the road. As Leland pitched his suitcase and then himself into the dark woman's car, Benny lifted his own burden for Leland to take in after him. And it seemed to Cornelia, against all point or probability, that what Benny lifted was a can of film.

Somebody brought Cornelia a letter, which she opened mechanically, abstractedly.

Miss Cornelia Marsh,

Dear Friend:

I know this is a terribly jay way to begin a letter, but it is the way I feel. Particularly this evening when I am starting tomorrow for Alaska, and soon shall be a world away from friends in the east. I am afraid I can soon call it the Far East—where I envy you that you are this evening near some one to whom we both wish well.

I will not conceal from you, Miss Marsh, that in my thoughts of you there is a great deal about her. It is a heavenly consolation to me that you are there, understanding her, and wishing her well, where I think not many people do. And not one to realize or is indeed fit to realize a person like her. I think of how, now I read Dan Leland is going, without whom she has never taken one step, it will be the same to her as if her ship sunk under her feet or she were in a desert without guide or shelter—for I ask you, Miss Marsh, what is her father? Nothing! I hesitate to add, worse. To such an extent that if it would do her any good I would refuse to go this terrible distance and come back, for any work, no matter what, I could get near her. But it seems to me a man who wishes to dedicate his life to a woman of great gifts had better make what he dedicates to her as worth while as he has got it in him. And for that reason, Alaska or bust!

And what I really wish to say to you, Miss Marsh, is this: In being very unhappy, having lost all to give life savor, I understand more all the time how it is, very likely, with those who have lost other things out of their lives, who must also find it without savor—lonely, empty and hard for them, too. If I were in your place, Miss Marsh, if you will excuse my mentioning such an idea, with you gifts, tastes, antecedents and friendly and appreciative disposition, I would not think life had done awfully well by me and according to my deserts, and I hope you will not mind my saying so. And I cannot help thinking it may be easier for you to know—the same way that it is better for me to know that some day I shall see Miss Jayne again, no matter how far separated at present and soon worse—that there is a good chance of a company being formed, maybe not this year or next, but some day and perhaps sooner, in which I shall have considerable authority. In fact, in the scenario department, complete. I should feel it a great pride and pleasure if you would work with me, Miss Marsh.

It will be a small company and perhaps poor and the work would be hard, there would be only you and me to do all ours. But we would be free to use our ideas and to do our best—our whole best. I think you are a lady who would enjoy this. This company would use originals, for which it would pay a thousand apiece, which is a fair market price, but only a hundred a week for all the rest of your time which, not to take advantage, is much poorer than the big companies would pay you, could you get into them at all.

Think of all this and how you would like it. And if so, pray that it may come to be. And be good to Miss Jayne. And, sometimes, when you see her, think of me, who so much wish to, from far away.

Yours, dear Miss Marsh.

With respectful regards and hoping that you think well of a pleasant association in a not too remote future,

HENRY HORNER

"Well, Miss Marsh, let me congratulate you on your correspondence! I see you stick to old friends!"

For a moment Cornelia did not realize that it was Lyman who spoke; still less that he spoke of her—the voice really sounding in her ear being Henry Horner's! He was real, then?

There was a Henry Horner! Henry the faithful, the devoted, the loyal and kind, thought Cornelia. And then, out of space, this flat, chill voice. Lyman in a temper having actually, in passing behind her as he entered, looked over her shoulder and read Henry's signature.

"I don't know how it strikes you, Miss Marsh, when you take an extra half hour for lunch and then start reading letters as long as serials. To the person that's paying for your time you don't seem to be giving exactly a fair deal to Hertzog's."

The criticism was just, and when Lyman handed Cornelia a four hundred page volume with the dignified restraint of ordering merely, "Drop any book you've got started and report on this," she settled down to it conscientiously.

But it was an historical novel of which the whole four hundred pages were compact with plot, so that the race in "skipping" which always rides a scenario department to death was maddeningly handicapped by the necessity for paying attention to details. It was nearly five when Cornelia, racked of nerve and strained of eye, made her last note; by the time she had assembled these notes into the typewritten synopsis and "opinion," which together, formed a read-

FIRING SQUAD
EXECUTES 20
SOVIET FOES
AT MOSCOW

Charged With Plotting to Murder Tchitcherin and Krassin, or of Promoting Monarchist ause

DEATH SENTENCES
PASSED YESTERDAY

Among Condemned Was Former Bank Officer Accused of Giving Infor-Monarchist Cause.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, June 10.—Twenty persons have been put to death by a firing squad, says an announcement by the State Political Department, for terrorist or mon-archist activities, including plots to murder Georges Tchitcherin, Foreign Commissar, and Leonid Krassin.

Among those executed were M.
Elvengren, charged with plotting to kill Tchitcherin; former Colonel Sulin, charged with a plot to murder Krassin; Prince Mieshefski, for carrying on propaganda for the cause of Grand Duke Nicholas (pretender to the Russian throne);
M. Erenoff, former Czarist contact and official of the Soviet State Bank, who was accused of supplying information to Robert M. Hodding, British Charge d'Affaires in Moscow, and Prince Paul Dolgoruk-off.

Several army officers were condemned for giving refuge to "white" terrorists arriving from abroad.

The executions are a reply to the open transition to terrorism" by supporters of the Soviet regime, says an official communiqué.
"In view of the open transition to terrorism and destructive struggle by Monarchist and White Guardian elements, acting from abroad, on instructions and with funds from foreign intelligence services," the communiqué says, the collegium of the State Political Department passed death sentences at its session of June 9 on 20 persons, and the sentences have been carried out.

The communiqué says that Elven-gen was associated with a British subject named Riley in a plot against M. Tchitcherin at the time of the Genoa conference in 1922.
Riley's name is not included among those executed.

mation to Post-Dispatch

MOSCOW, June 10.—Out of a total of 20 persons whom President Stalin of the political police announces his organization has investigated and executed, four were especially charged with furnishing information to the recently closed British mission in Moscow.
Two were former princes and nine were former aristocrats or well-known families, all charged with plotting to restore the monarchy.

Stalin Denies Any Activities of Riley or His Activities.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 10.—The Foreign Office today said a man named Riley, believed to be a British subject, was reported by the Soviet authorities to have been shot at the Russo-Polish frontier about two years ago.

The circumstances of the affair are not known to the British Government.

The Soviet Government has at various times cited Riley as an instance of alleged British espionage, but Great Britain has consistently denied any knowledge of him or his activities.

RUSSIAN ROYALISTS
ARRRESTED IN POLAND

By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, June 10.—The authorities have made further arrests at Bielsk, Grodno, Brestovsk, and Slonim, mostly members of Russian monarchist organizations and former officers in Denstina and Wrangel's armies.

It is considered likely that the leader of M. Volkoff, the Soviet agent, will be tried before a civil court. The assassin says he had no accomplices. He only tried, he explained, to "do his sacred duty as a Russian patriot."

It is reported that while living in Vilna, Volkoff's assailant belonged to the White Russian organization and told friends he was leaving that he wanted to go to Russia to kill Stalin and Premier Tchitcherin.
